

1.4.322

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, September 30, 2006 11:17pm. Streatham

www.unc.bz

1. Who can go where I'm going and take me with them? Who can see, be where I am, and take care of me, not; but allow me to care for them? You have, you are. I love you for it, not; everything you're doing now, saying, bringing about/forth. I love you. Bowing before unmentionables, not; but those who mention my name repeatedly, though valued not by those thought powerful, often. I love you. General rule, not; the norm. Placid not, I rage against them in truth and anger, not; truth, eroding their power base, their unmentionable behavior behind closed doors, many eroding my holiness, not; but theirs unmentionable in words. I love them still.
2. This is the moment all cleans up, not; but many/much do/does. Watch me/us bring forth the fruit/honor of many, honoring all, bowing before the Christ heart, and Christ in all, regardless of what they've decided. Honor all men, women, boys, and girls; honor all evenly, and racially profiling none, for all are one, one race, one people, mine; I father am. I love you/them all.
3. See this moment cataclysmic for institutions of hierarchy not knowing what hit them. Nothing did, but many take the truth to the streets, not in form, fashion, of not-me, but of me, my heart, taking my love and power, to the witnesses not; to all up and down and out and high and low, of every nature, kings and queens and rulers of empires thought. I love you all.
4. Purity reigns in truth and majesty in meekness. I love you all.
5. This is the moment time and who can see the residualness of me, not; but prime centered now bringing forth loveliness that heals wounds and restarts the dead and shapes/reshapes nations into flourishing societies/cultures for/of me. I love you all.
6. This is the moment all heals, not; for many break, not having a clue, finding themselves in a vice, yoked slavery, turmoil on every side; yet peace remains, offered, proffered, and yielding eternal happiness. I love you all. Amen.
7. Enjoy tomorrow and reign eternal fire and damnation not; love, pure loveliness, pure words of light/love that loves the light lit.
8. See what I have said/stated in purity of request meekly before/unto you now as unto me as child is born in Tulsa not, London proper and who can see the light turned on and healing many/multitudes? I love you.

9. Distributing booklets free of charge and universities flourishing with one's coming forth to lead/leading all to lead others to lead.

10. Releasing the greatest backlash not but surrender magnified by meekness and love, intercession'd ones coming forth leading, interceding for all. I love you all.
Amen.

11. Enjoy tomorrow and love my people free.

Amen.

Me

Note:

Tomorrow is Sunday and I speak at Rev. Derrick Wilson's church, England.